We support our Customers to develop the best

WHO WE ARE

With over thirty years of experience, Tecnocad was founded in 1986 by Germano Cini and is leading a group of companies that are focused on providing a complete service in the automotive field, covering the entire development process from concept to assistance during the production start-up phase.

Tecnocad, with its flexibility, responsiveness and expertise, is the perfect partner to support its customers in all the challenges they may face, adapting its organization to the customer's project needs. Tecnocad is capable of developing and managing turn key projects or supporting Customers only in single phases of the entire Development Process.

WHAT WE DO

Tecnocad is able to accompany its customers throughout the entire engineering development process.

Our Organization and our know-how allow us to realize all the various phases of the project starting from the first styling sketches, passing through the entire engineering of product and process including the deliberation of safety, performance and homologation, up to reach the start of production.

Following the proper management standards or adapting to customer organization, Tecnocad offers a complete service in the field of product development, making available to customers its thirty-year experience in the field and the continuous research of innovation internally developed by the teams of R&D.
